

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A transfer tool having a housing, a supply reel around which a long ribbon substrate coated with a coating film is wound, and a take-up reel receiving the substrate after transferring the coating film to a targeted object, and is designed so that the inner face of the housing is roughened at least in a region where the coating film on the substrate may contact it.